

IDREES KAHLOON

WASHINGTON BUREAU CHIEF
THE ECONOMIST

*US Political Commentator
Interpreting White House Policy
Developments, Congress and US Foreign Policy*

IDREES KAHLOON

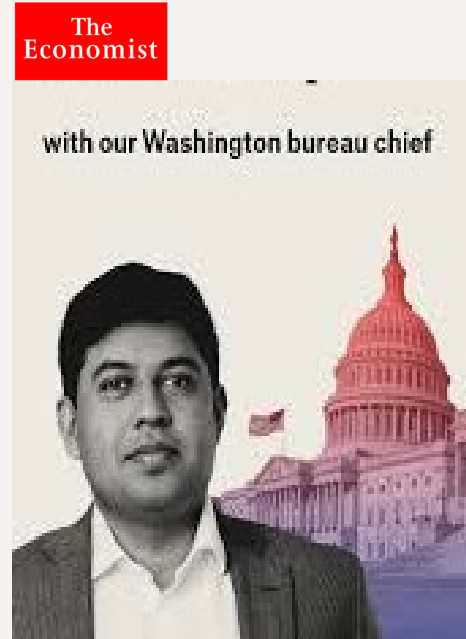

about

Idrees Kahloon is the Washington Bureau Chief of The Economist, and leads coverage of the White House, Congress and national politics. Idrees joined The Economist in London in 2016 as a Data Journalist. He designed the magazine's successful predictive model of the 2016 Brexit referendum and published the first accurate measurement of the ethnic composition of Lebanon since 1932. In 2017, he moved to Washington, DC as the US Policy Correspondent, covering domestic politics and policy. In January 2020, he was appointed the Washington Correspondent, covering national politics.

His work has been published in Harvard Magazine and The New Yorker. He has spoken to CNN, Fox News, NPR and frequently appears on podcasts by The Economist, including "Checks and Balance" about American politics.

Before joining The Economist, Idrees spent a lot of time writing for The Harvard Crimson and interned with the editorial boards of The Lexington Herald-Leader and The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

He graduated from Harvard University with a degree in applied mathematics and economics.

IDREES KAHLOON

key facts

Currently ...

- Washington Bureau Chief, The Economist

Formerly ...

- Washington Correspondent, The Economist
- US Policy Correspondent, The Economist
- Data journalist, The Economist
- Bachelor's Degree in Applied Mathematics & Economics, Harvard University

Flies from Washington D.C

Speaks to senior corporate teams and conference audiences

Useful links for Idrees Kahloon:

- TIB Speaker Web Page >> Go to Webpage
- TIB Video Channel >> Watch Videos

Andrew Vine
CEO
The Insight Bureau
Exclusive Agency

Speaking & Moderating Requests:

+65-6300-2495

engage_us@insightbureau.com